Seize the Opportunities . . .

Welcome to New Orleans and Symposium 2014! We are honored to host almost 700 parents, educators, elected officials, clergy, BAE0 board members, staff, emerging leaders, funders and partner advocates in the battle for parental choice and education reform. Whether you are a first timer or a returning participant, we will inform, inspire and empower you to Seize the Opportunities to transform the lives of our children!

This year's theme, Seize the Opportunities, challenges you not to procrastinate, not to be afraid, and not to wait for extraordinary events to act on behalf of our children. Instead, we challenge you to use everyday moments, resources, and relationships to create the conditions to Seize the Opportunities, starting with those you will experience over the next few days.

On Thursday, events begin with the Welcome and First Timers Orientation where you will learn more about BAE0's vision, history and initiatives. The Symposium 2014 host region, Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi will host a Networking Reception to provide an opportunity for you to connect with old friends and meet new partners in the struggle. At the Opening Ceremony and President's Dinner, Dr. Steve Perry, CNN and MSNBC education contributor and school founder, will call us to action with his keynote address.

After dinner, you are invited to a film screening and discussion of We the Parents which documents the Parent Trigger Law and the courageous efforts of parents to close their children's failing public school in California. At the same time, registered emerging leaders ages 16-35 are invited to a film screening of TEACHED which exposes inequality in our nation's schools, followed by a discussion and spoken word event.

On Friday morning, pre-registered participants will have the opportunity to visit local high-quality schools while others will engage in a community conversation about

Welcome!

New Orleans Education Reform facilitated by Dr. Andre Perry, scholar, commentator, activist, and Founding Dean of Urban Education at Davenport University.

We proudly welcome back the seasoned college coaches from Beyond 12 joined by our partners from United Negro College Fund to facilitate another College Readiness and Success Boot Camp for pre-registered Symposium juniors and seniors.

At our Friday lunch, we will hear from education reform supporter Derrell Bradford, former United States Secretary of Education Dr. Rod Paige, and pastor and award-winning gospel artist and founder of the Grand Rapids Ellington Academy of Arts and Technology (GREAAAT), Dr. Marvin L. Sapp returns.

BAEO members will join BAEO Board Chair Dr. Howard Fuller and BAEO President Kenneth Campbell for the Annual Meeting of the General Membership to learn more about BAEO's strategic plan and vision for the future. Bring your questions, comments and recommendations!

The Board Chair's Closing Ceremony will feature a rousing keynote by BAEO's Founder and Board Chair Dr. Howard Fuller.

And finally, at the Closing Reception hosted by Tennessee, we will look towards BAEO's 15th anniversary celebration at Symposium 2015.

Again, welcome to Symposium 2014, and thank you for joining us in the movement!

New Orleans Education Reform: Promises, Progress, Possibilities

Before Hurricane Katrina ravaged the city in 2005, New Orleans had one of the worst performing public school districts in the nation. Katrina forced nearly a million people to leave their homes and caused almost $100 billion in damages. In the wake of Katrina, education reformers decided to seize the opportunity and start fresh with a system based on parental choice. Today, New Orleans has the most market-based school system in the United States, test scores are up, and talented and passionate educators from around the country are flocking to New Orleans to be a part of the education revolution. Join us for this interactive community conversation where we discuss the progress that has been made and how difficult issues such as race, class, community participation, and power will impact education reform efforts going forward.

There's Room for You at the Table: *Perspectives on Intergenerational Leadership in Education Reform

By ensuring that all stakeholders have a seat “at the table,” we create opportunities to incubate innovative ideas and get the funding needed to bring those ideas to life. With the recent re-launch of the Bailey-Sullivan Leadership Institute (BSLI) through the Bailey-Sullivan Advocacy Leadership Fellowship (BSALF), BAEO is working to develop the next generation of leaders in education reform. Participants will explore examples of transformational work and develop actionable takeaways for implementation back home.

Louisiana Scholarship Program: *Giving Families Hope and a New Option

The Louisiana Scholarship Program (LSP) has been a valuable parental choice option in the state of Louisiana, providing public funds for low-income students in low-performing schools to enroll in local private schools. The program has recently come under fire from the U.S. Department of Justice, making the LSP a great case study in education reform policy. Participants will analyze the case study to identify advocacy and policy strategies for use in their home states.
